TILLIE BURGIN

We are so thankful for you. Let me share an experience that happened here this week. A lady came by the area where donations are dropped off. Her car was filled with items she was giving for people in need. She asked one of our volunteers "What happens to all of these things that are being donated?" We invited her to COME AND SEE.

What she saw amazed her. Clothes were hanging neatly by type and size. Shelves were filled with household items of all kinds - even children's clothes, toys, books and shoes. Around the corner, she saw the pantry and watched people receive multiple-day's supply of food - all of this absolutely free.

She overheard a mom express gratitude for these gifts, because her husband had just lost his job, and there was no paycheck this month. While she was watching all this, she was thrilled when she saw the items she had brought in moments before go right on the shelves to be given away.

Your donations here make a difference every day. Won't you come and see?
